A long time a-go in a Miss-iss-ip-pi bay-ou, lived a mean al-li-ga-tor who was big-ger than all ___ of you. A lit-tle cat-fish came ___ by one day to see ___ if the al-li-ga-tor want-ed to pla-y. ___

SNAP go the jaws of the al-li-ga-tor!

SNAP go the jaws of the al-li-ga-tor!

He snaps all night; he snaps all day. That al-li-ga-tor sure knows ___ how to pla-y! Then the cat-fish saw the teeth of the 'ga-tor. He said, "I'd love to play, but I'll see ya later." But the

'ga-tor was hungry, don't you know? So the cat-fish swam just as fast as it could go!

SNAP go the jaws of the al-li-ga-tor!

SNAP go the jaws of the al-li-ga-tor!

He snaps all night; he snaps all day. That al-li-ga-tor sure knows how to play! Well, the cat-fish was too fast for the 'ga-tor, side to side and some-times straight-er. See, the cat-fish learned a lesson that day, to stay a-way from where the al-li-ga-tors play.

SNAP go the jaws of the al-li-ga-tor!

SNAP go the jaws of the al-li-ga-tor!

He snaps all night. He snaps all day. That al-li-ga-tor sure knows how to play! Snaps all night, snaps all day. Take my advice and just keep far a way! If you see an al - li - ga - tor just a bask - ing in the sun, I can give you a big hint, you bet - ter turn a - round and run.

Don't let 'em tell you that it just is - n't true. 'Cause if that al - li - ga - tor's hun - gry, he'll be com - ing af - ter you!

Snaps all ni - ght; he snaps ___ all day. That all - i - ga - tor sure knows ___ how to play!

Snaps all night; snaps all day. That cat - fish would ___ say you'd best ___ stay a - way!
